Contribution of small business to employment

It is important to note that the figures to follow quoted from the ABS Australian Industry collection exclude persons employed in the general government sector (public administration; education and training; health care and social assistance); persons employed in finance, insurance and superannuation funds; and persons employed in defence and in private households. However, the figures do include persons employed in general government businesses classified to water supply, sewerage and drainage services.

Note: Measures of employment from these data sources are not consistent with data published in ABS 6202.0 Labour Force, Australia.

Businesses of all sizes employed 2,063,000 persons in Queensland in June 2016.

This comprised 912,000 persons employed in a small business (44.2%), 465,000 persons employed in a medium business (22.5%) and 686,000 persons employed in a large business (33.3%) (Figure 2).

Between June 2007 and June 2016, the number of persons employed in a small business in Queensland decreased by 166,000 (down 15.4%) (Figure 3).

Conversely, the number of persons employed in a medium or large business increased by 128,000 (38.0%) and 172,000 (33.5%) respectively.

Despite this trend, employment in all business sizes in Queensland has decreased in the two years to June 2016.

While small business makes a significant contribution to total employment in Queensland, its share has fallen from 55.9% in June 2007 to 44.2% in 2016 (Figure 3).

Nationally, the contribution of small business to employment also declined over the period June 2007 to June 2016, although to a lesser degree (from 52.6% to 44.3%).

In June 2016, Queensland small businesses accounted for one-in-five persons (19.3%) employed nationally in small businesses. More than three-in-five small businesses in Queensland in June 2016 were non-employing (63.0%).

Data sources used in this report

ABS 8165.0, Counts of Australian Businesses, Including Entries and Exits, June 2012 to June 2016

These counts published by the ABS represent a complete enumeration of economically active businesses on the Australian Bureau of Statistics Business Register (ABSBR). Business counts from the ABSBR are based, in part, on tax data supplied by the Australian Tax Office (ATO) and Australian Business Register (ABR) data supplied by the Registrar. Counts of businesses comprise businesses actively trading in goods or services.

ABS 8155.0, Australian Industry

Data in this publication are collected from the annual Economic Activity Survey conducted by the ABS, and administrative data from Business Activity Statements provided by businesses to the ATO. The scope of this collection consists of business entities operating in the Australian economy during 2015–16, with employment estimates relating to June 2016.
