1.0 Introduction

The Crime report, Queensland, 2019–20 provides an overview of the volume and nature of crime in Queensland, as reported to (by victims, witnesses or other persons) or detected by the Queensland Police Service (QPS) (reported offences). The Crime report is a companion to the Justice report, Queensland, 2019–20 (also produced by QGSO), which provides an overview of the volume of criminal justice matters in Queensland, and includes statistics relating to criminal courts, youth justice, and adult corrective services.

For the purposes of this report, the reference period is the 2019–20 financial year, 1 July 2019 to 30 June 2020 and time series for up to 10 years to that date. Changes which have occurred are presented for 1 year (from the end of the year immediately preceding) and 9 years (from the end of the first year in the time series).

This 2019–20 edition is the third annual report by Queensland Government Statistician's Office (QGSO) on reported crime in the state and includes revisions to data published for earlier years where appropriate. Detailed statistics relating to reported victims of offences against the person and alleged offenders in all offence categories are featured in this report, as well as statistics for reported and cleared offences.

Tables containing person-based variables and demographic information have been subjected to confidentialisation, to ensure the anonymity of individuals is protected where numbers are small (1–3) and there is a reasonable likelihood that a person may be identified from the data published.

Statistics in this report are presented as both counts and rates. Using counts to gauge the level of crime is problematic, as areas with larger populations will presumably have higher numbers of offences than areas with smaller populations. Calculation of rates per 100,000 estimated resident population allows direct comparisons of crime to be made across different geographical areas and across time, since the size of the population is taken into account in the calculation.

Data which form the basis of this report are derived from official crime reports recorded in Queensland Police Records and Information Management Exchange (QPRIME). Only offences with a status of solved, withdrawn, lapsed or unsolved are counted in this report. Cancelled and unfounded (not substantiated) crime reports have been excluded.

This report presents crime for the state and the 19 statistical areas level 4 (SA4), as defined by the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) in the Australian Statistical Geography Standard. Also presented in the Appendix are crime statistics by police administrative regions.

The information presented in this report may vary from data published elsewhere by QGSO and others, due to differences in the dates data were extracted and frequency of revision, or in counting rules or statistical standards applied. Readers are therefore urged to exercise caution when making comparison between publications.

The report should also be read in conjunction with the Explanatory notes and glossary, where counting methodologies and other supporting information are provided to aid in the interpretation of statistics presented.

1.1. COVID-19 pandemic

Queensland declared a public health emergency under the Public Health Act 2005 on 29 January 2020. From 11 March 2020, when the World Health Organization declared a global pandemic in response to the global spread of COVID-19, Australian and State and Territory Governments implemented border closures, travel restrictions, mandatory quarantine, business closures and social-distancing measures in efforts to contain the spread of the virus.

By the end of March, non-essential services, including pubs, clubs and restaurants were shut down and the Queensland border closed to all but local residents, essential travellers and freight. Queenslanders faced dramatically tighter restrictions, schools were closed, pupils were home-schooled and people not working in front-line essential services were directed to work from home wherever possible. Travel outside the home was banned except for four essential reasons, and breaches punishable by fines issued by police. Travel into remote Indigenous communities was banned under federal law. The highest level of restrictions was maintained throughout April. A staged easing of restrictions commenced in May, and hospitality venues permitted to reopen in a limited capacity from mid-May. From 31 May 2020, Queenslanders were again allowed to travel unrestricted within the state, but the state's border remained closed as at 30 June.

While the border continued to be strictly controlled and social distancing enforced, restrictions within Queensland continued to ease from June onwards, allowing freedom of movement for the most part, and gathering of groups in greater numbers (albeit still capped). Shops and other businesses began to re-open; people were urged to split their work between home and their usual workplace; children were called back to school; and places of worship were allowed to re-open.

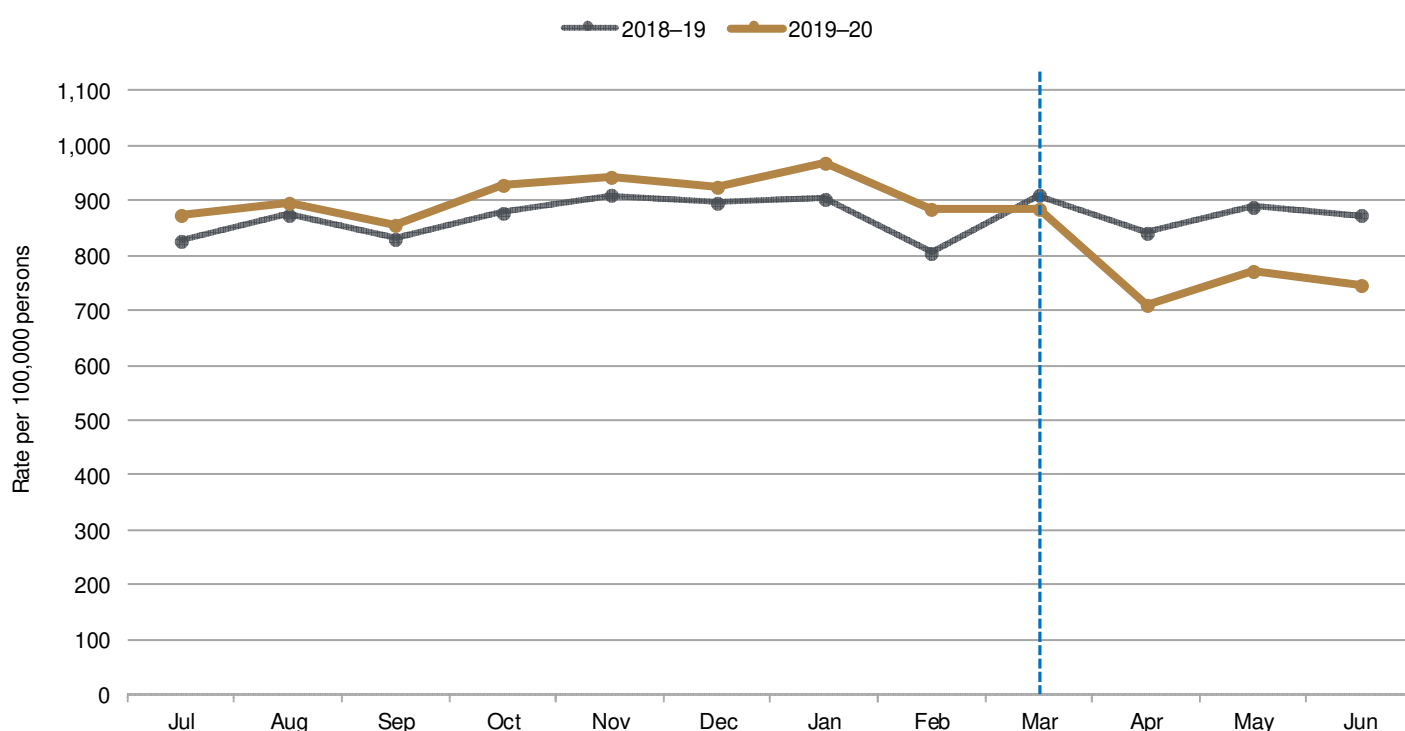

Once the pandemic was declared and the Queensland border closed, police were deployed to manage border control and assist with managing quarantine facilities. Police also suspended roadside testing for drink and drug driving from mid-March to mid-June 2020.

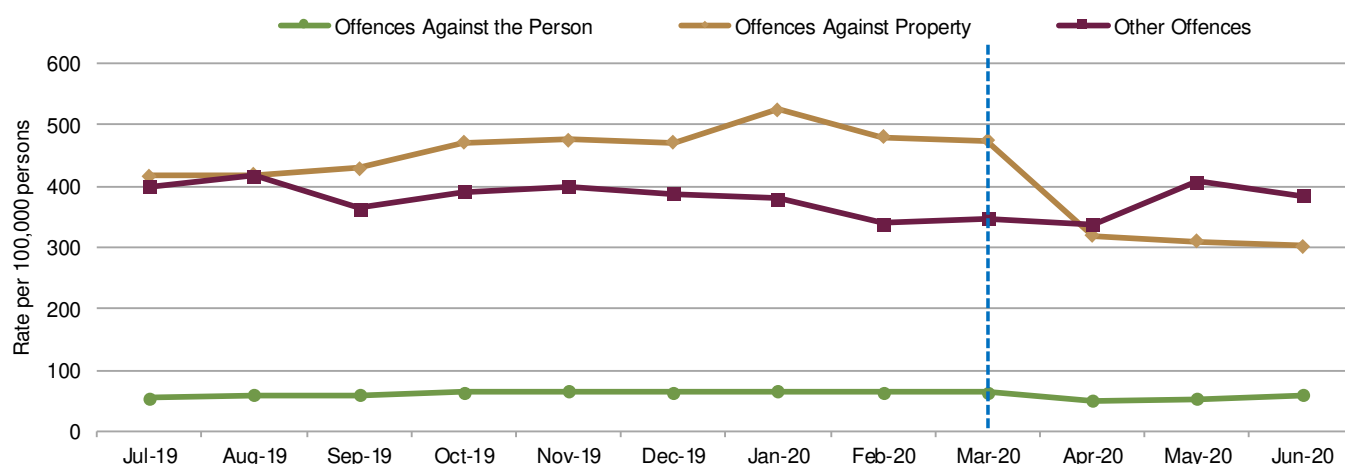

The imposed restrictions and containment measures had an immediate and noticeable impact on levels of criminal activity in the last quarter of 2019–20, resulting in lower than expected numbers and rates of reported offences. However, despite this, the annual reported crime rate was 0.3% higher than that of 2018–19 due to the higher rates in the months prior to COVID-19. The pandemic is a significant and ongoing event, both globally and nationally, which has impacted crime and justice statistics. Therefore, comparisons with figures in periods before the pandemic was declared must be made with caution.

As can be seen in Figure 1, during the first half of 2019–20, the reported crime rate for Queensland slowly increased until January 2020, when it reached a peak of 969.4 offences per 100,000 persons. When the highest level of restrictions was in place in April 2020, the total reported crime rate fell to a low of 708.8 per 100,000 persons (26.9% lower than the peak in January 2020).

The rates of total reported offences in the three months from April to June were significantly lower than the same period in 2018–19 (between 13% and 16% lower in each of the three months). Within the reported offence categories, property offences largely drove the pattern of the overall crime rate in 2020 (Figure 2), in particular the sharp drop in April as they contributed 88% of the total decrease in the counts of all reported offences. The change in other offences impacted the overall crime rate more in May when their increase outweighed the decrease in property offences. Fluctuations in person offences were less influential overall due to their lower counts.

Offence: Any act or omission by a person(s) for which a penalty could be imposed by the Australian legal system. Presented in this report in three categories:

Offences against the person: include homicide offences, assault, sexual offences, robbery and other offences against the person.

Offences against property: include unlawful entry, arson, other property damage, unlawful use of a motor vehicle, other theft, fraud, handling stolen goods.

Other offences: include drug offences, prostitution offences, liquor & gaming offences, breach DV order, trespassing and vagrancy, Weapons Act offences, good order offences, stock-related offences, traffic and related offences, miscellaneous.

Offender: in this report, a person aged 10 years or over who, through the clearance of an offence, is alleged to be responsible for committing that offence. A person may be recorded as an offender multiple times, if they were proceeded against by police for multiple offence types within the same incident or multiple times within the reference period. Unless otherwise specified, offender data presented in this report do not represent a count of individual (unique) offenders.

Child offender: for the purpose of this report, is an alleged offender aged 10 to 17 years at the date police action commenced against them.

Unique offender: provides an estimate of the actual number of offenders and therefore is lower than the total number of offenders. Each person is counted once only in the reference period, regardless of how many times they have been proceeded against by police in the period.

Victim: Victim statistics in this report relate only to victims of offences against the person, reported to or detected by police within the reporting period. For most offences against the person, the victim is an individual person. Statistics on non-person victims have not been included in this report.

These data show one victim for each counted offence. However, a person may be counted multiple times if they were the victim of multiple offences belonging to different offence types within a single incident or reported multiple times during the reference period. They would be counted once for each most serious offence per offence type. Unless otherwise specified, victim data presented in this report do not represent a count of individual (unique) victims.

Unique victim: provides an estimate of the actual number of reported victims and therefore is lower than the total number of reported victims. Each person is counted once only in the reference period, regardless of how many times they have been reported as a victim of an offence.

Vertical dotted blue line in line graphs in this report denotes the declaration on 11 March 2020 of the COVID-19 global pandemic (2019–20).

3.0 Reported and cleared offences

This section presents statistics for Queensland for the 2018–19 and 2019–20 financial years, for reported and cleared offences in three categories: offences against the person, against property, and other offences.

Reported offences are those which have been reported to or detected by police within the reference period, and include those where no offender, or victim in some cases, has been identified. These are presented as both numbers and rates, and a percentage change indicator. Rates are calculated as reported offences per 100,000 persons, using the appropriate estimated resident population (ERP).

Cleared offences are presented as a count of offences reported and cleared in period and cleared in period, reported previously. The percentage cleared figures refer only to those offences reported and cleared in the same financial year. (See Glossary for definition of cleared offences.)

3.1. Reported offences

For all tables in this section, although offence rate per 100,000 persons has been rounded to one decimal place, the actual rate was used to calculate the percentage rate change between the two periods.

4.0 Crime by region (SA4) – counts and rates

The tables in this section display the number of reported offences and the offence rate per 100,000 estimated resident population (ERP), for 2010–11, 2018–19 and 2019–20, for Queensland and the state's 19 statistical areas level 4.

Population growth can lead to a rise in numbers of offences, and therefore simple counts cannot and should not be used to gauge the true level of crime in a region. However, it is important to note that transient population groups such as tourists are not factored into the ERP. This would have particular impact on high tourism areas where crime rates may be overestimated.

Please note: The tables in this section include some offences where the SA4 in which the offence occurred cannot be identified. This may occur for one of two reasons:

- (1) The offence was detected as part of a covert operation, and the location of the offence has not been recorded, to maintain security.
- (2) The accuracy of the address had not been verified at the time the data were extracted for inclusion in this publication.

In such cases, the offences have been included in the Queensland total only. Therefore, SA4 statistics may not always sum to Queensland totals.

Queensland Statistical Area Level 4 (SA4),
2016

Please note the following:

- Rates are presented per 100,000 estimated resident population.
- Although offence rate has been rounded to one decimal place, the actual rate was used to calculate the percentage rate change between the two periods.
- This table may include some offences where the statistical area level 4 (SA4) in which the offence occurred cannot be identified. Such offences have been included in the Queensland total only, and therefore SA4 statistics may not always sum to Queensland total.

4.1. Offences against the person

Please note the following:

- Rates are presented per 100,000 estimated resident population.
- Although offence rate has been rounded to one decimal place, the actual rate was used to calculate the percentage rate change between the two periods.
- Any of the tables in this section may include some offences where the statistical area level 4 (SA4) in which the offence occurred cannot be identified. Such offences have been included in the Queensland totals only, and therefore SA4 statistics may not always sum to Queensland totals

Information for all offence types and selected offences within the offences against the person category is presented below.

4.2. Offences against property

Please note the following:

- Rates are presented per 100,000 estimated resident population.
- Although offence rate has been rounded to one decimal place, the actual rate was used to calculate the percentage rate change between the two periods.
- Any of the tables in this section may include some offences where the statistical area level 4 (SA4) in which the offence occurred cannot be identified. Such offences have been included in the Queensland totals only, and therefore SA4 statistics may not always sum to Queensland totals.

Information for all offence types and selected offences within the offences against property category is presented below.

4.3. Other offences

Please note the following:

- Rates are presented per 100,000 estimated resident population.
- Although offence rate has been rounded to one decimal place, the actual rate was used to calculate the percentage rate change between the two periods.
- Any of the tables in this section may include some offences where the statistical area level 4 (SA4) in which the offence occurred cannot be identified. Such offences have been included in the Queensland totals only, and therefore SA4 statistics may not always sum to Queensland totals.

Information for all offence types and selected offences within the other offences category is presented below.

5.0 Crime locations

This section provides a breakdown of crime by the type of location in which the reported offence occurred. The location classifications are based on those used by the ABS in Recorded crime – Victims, Australia.

A crime location is defined as the initial site where a criminal incident occurred, classified by the primary function of that site where the site has more than one function. This definition may encompass any surrounding land, yard or car parking area, together with any other structures existing at the location. (See Glossary for further information.)

6.0 Offenders

In this report, offender statistics do not represent a count of unique offenders, unless otherwise stated. Nor do they equate to the number of offences cleared. An individual may be recorded as an alleged offender multiple times, if they were proceeded against for multiple offence types within the same incident or multiple times within the reference period.

The reference date used to generate statistics for the year under review is the date an action commenced against an alleged offender. As such, offenders proceeded against in the reference year, for matters reported in the same or in previous years, will be included in this report.

Offenders proceeded against by police in period

	2018–19	2019–20 <sup>(a)</sup>	% change
Total offenders	317,160	324,658	2.4 ↑
Unique offenders	113,065	107,961	-4.5 ↓

Offenders by sex <sup>(b)</sup>

Male	238,112	243,907	2.4 ↑
Female	78,901	80,551	2.1 ↑

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander offenders

Total offenders	73,128	78,344	7.1 ↑
Unique offenders	19,631	19,433	-1.0 ↓

Child offenders (aged 10–17 years)

Total offenders	49,196	51,616	4.9 ↑
Unique offenders	11,965	11,233	-6.1 ↓

(a) COVID-19 pandemic was declared on 11 March 2020 and containment measures commenced.

(b) Excludes a small number of offenders whose sex was not stated.

In 2019–20:

All offenders

- The total number of offenders increased from 2018–19 to 2019–20, while the number of unique offenders declined over the same period.
- Three-quarters (75.2%) of all offenders were male.
- Almost a quarter (24.2%) of all offenders (excluding those whose Indigenous status was not stated) identified as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander.

Child offenders (aged 10–17 years at time of police action)

- Child offenders accounted for one-half (50.8%) of all offenders for robbery, compared with 15.9% of all offenders for all offences.
- Other theft (excl. unlawful entry)* was the most prevalent offence among child offenders (12,060).

Compared with 2010–11

- Offender numbers for drug offences more than doubled (79,829 offenders from 38,913), the largest offender number increase of all offences.
- Female offenders increased by 60.2%, whereas the number of male offenders increased by 32.0% over the same period.

6.1. Age and sex

Offender tables have been subjected to confidentialisation where cell values range between 1 and 3. Cells with a value of zero remain unaltered.
(See Explanatory notes for more detail.)

Offender age is reported as at date police action was commenced against them, not at date offence occurred. Be aware that, in some instances, the time difference may be considerable.

6.1.1. Sex of offender

Police proceeded against 324,658 offenders in 2019–20 in relation to offences reported during the same year or in the year(s) prior. This was an increase of 7,498 offenders (2.4%) over a year, from 317,160 offenders in 2018–19. Since 2010–11, the number of offenders proceeded against increased steadily to reach the time-series peak of 325,321 in 2015–16 (Figure 6). Despite a small dip in the following two years, increases in the most recent two years have returned the number close to the 2015–16 peak.

Male offenders comprised 75.2% of the total in 2019–20, one of the lowest proportions recorded during the time series. This is more a result of the increase in female offenders than a decrease in male offenders. Over the 10-year time series, the number of male offenders increased by 32.0% which is only around half of the percentage increase of female offenders, at 60.2% over the same period. In 2019–20, male offenders increased by 2.4% (5,795), to 243,907 from 238,112 in the previous year.

Female offender numbers reached a time-series peak in 2019–20, at 80,551 or 24.8% of all offenders, the second-highest proportion for the time series after 24.9% in 2018–19. Female offenders increased by 2.1% (1,650) in 2019–20, from 78,901 in the previous year.

(a) Totals include a small number of offenders whose sex was not stated.

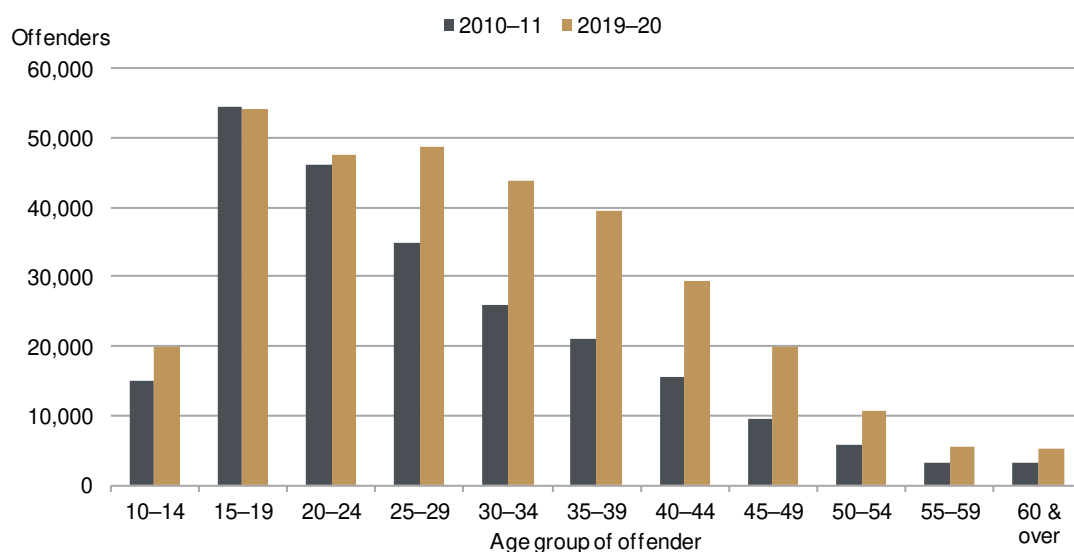

(b) COVID-19 pandemic was declared on 11 March 2020 and containment measures commenced.

6.1.2. Age distribution

The age distribution of offenders has shifted towards older age groups since 2010–11 (Figure 7). Offender numbers decreased slightly for 15–19-year-olds, while increasing for 10–14-year-olds and all age groups 20 years and older.

The proportion of offenders aged under 25 years in 2019–20 was the lowest in ten years, down from 49.3% of all offenders proceeded against by police in 2010–11 to 37.5% in 2019–20.

6.2. Indigenous status

In 2019–20, police in Queensland proceeded against 78,344 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander offenders, a 7.1% increase from the 73,128 offenders recorded in the previous year (Figure 8). Over the 10-year time series, of all those offenders whose Indigenous status was stated, the proportion who identified as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander has increased slightly, to 24.2% in 2019–20 compared with 22.7% in 2010–11, with some minor fluctuations over the 10-year period.

(a) Represents Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander offenders as a proportion of those offenders whose Indigenous status was stated. Offenders whose Indigenous status was not stated have been excluded from percentage calculations.

(b) COVID-19 pandemic was declared on 11 March 2020 and containment measures commenced.

6.2.2. Distribution by age, sex and Indigenous status

The distribution of offenders proceeded against in 2019–20 by age, sex and Indigenous status of the offender shows different patterns for the offender cohorts. For non-Indigenous male offenders, the most common age group was 25–29 years, closely followed by 15–19 years and 20–24 years. Meanwhile, for non-Indigenous female offenders, while the most common age group was also 25–29 years there was little difference between the age groups of 15–19 years through to 30–34 years (Figure 9).

(a) Excludes 1,169 offenders whose Indigenous status was not stated.

(b) Excludes a further 167 non-Indigenous offenders whose sex was not stated.

By comparison, the proportion of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander offenders aged under 20 years was almost double that of non-Indigenous offenders in the same age category (37.8% and 33.6% respectively for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander male and female offenders compared with 18.2% and 19.0% for non-Indigenous male and female offenders) (Figure 10).

Of all Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander offenders in 2019–20, the age group most represented was 15–19 years for both males (23.6%) and females (19.2%), with 10–14 years the second-most represented age group for males (14.2%) and third-most for females (14.3%). Among Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander offenders, those aged 10–14 years accounted for 14.3% of the total, whereas only 3.5% of all non-Indigenous offenders were in that age group.

(b) Excludes 27 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander offenders whose sex was not stated.

6.3. Offence category and type

In this report, offences are classified into three broad categories: offences against the person (comprising 6.8% of offenders proceeded against by police in 2019–20), offences against property (31.0%) and other offences (62.2%), and then further disaggregated by offence type (Table 56).

The most prevalent offences for which police proceeded against an offender in 2019–20 were drug offences (24.6%), other theft (excl. unlawful entry) (13.4%) and good order offences (12.6%). For the first time in 10 years, traffic and related offences fell behind the top three offences for which offenders were proceeded against in a reporting period.

Drug offences recorded the largest increase in offender numbers in 2019–20 compared with the previous year (+5,488 offenders, or 7.4%, to 79,829 from 74,341 in 2018–19), while good order offences recorded the largest decrease (–5,467 offenders, or –11.8%, to 41,023 from 46,490 in 2018–19).

(b) Ranked in order of offence category and offence types with greatest number of offenders proceeded against in 2019–20.

(c) Includes gaming, racing & betting offences.

The distribution of offenders in each offence category varied according to the age of the offender in 2019–20. While the proportion of offences against the person remained fairly stable regardless of the age of offender, younger offenders were substantially more likely to be proceeded against in relation to offences against property (66.3% of 10–14-year-old offenders). From 18 years of age, other offences overtakes offences against property, with older offenders substantially more likely to be proceeded against for offences in this category (68.5% of offenders aged 20 years and over) (Figure 11).

Note: 60+ represents offenders aged 60 years and all ages above, while all other data points represent one year of age.

Within the category of other offences, there is also an age pattern, although less pronounced (Figure 12). Good order offences accounted for 26.1% of child offenders (aged 10–17 years) with a steady decrease to 19.6% of offenders by 30 years of age. Drug offences became the predominant offence for offenders at 14 years and reached the peak at 17 years of age. Drug offences accounted for 39.8% of all offenders aged 14 years and over, while accounting for only 20.4% of offenders aged 10–13 years. Traffic and related offences accounted for 21.8% of offenders aged 22 years and remained around this level until rising again for those aged early fifties to peak at 60 years and over (29.7%).

(a) Remainder includes: Prostitution offences; liquor offences (excl. drunkenness); gaming, racing & betting offences; breach domestic violence protection order; trespassing and vagrancy; Weapons Act offences; stock-related offences; and miscellaneous offences.

The age distribution of offenders for selected person and property offences also shows an age pattern (Figure 13). While many offence types roughly follow the overall pattern of offending, offenders aged 10–19 years are substantially over-represented for unlawful entry offences, and older age groups are predominantly over-represented for sexual offences, especially those aged 60 years and over.

It must be remembered, however, that the reference date for offender statistics is the date police commenced action against an offender, and some offences reported in 2019–20 will have occurred in years prior.

The proportion of offenders aged 25–59 years of age proceeded against for breach of domestic violence protection order is consistently higher than the proportion proceeded against for all offences.

Offenders aged 10–19 years are greatly over-represented for unlawful entry offences; those aged 60+ years for sexual offences.

6.4. Child offenders

6.4.1. Sex and Indigenous status

In 2019–20, police proceeded against 51,616 offenders aged 10–17 years in Queensland, a 4.9% increase from 49,196 in 2018–19.

Over the 10-year time series, the trend of offending varies between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and non-Indigenous child offenders, and between males and females (Figure 14). While the number of non-Indigenous male offenders dropped from 23,195 in 2010–11 to 21,095 in 2019–20 (–9.1%), the number of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander male offenders increased substantially from 12,450 to 16,957 (+36.2%) over the same period. Similarly, the number of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander female offenders increased from 3,489 to 5,979 (+71.4%) while the number of non-Indigenous female offenders remained stable.

In this report, child offenders are those aged 10 to 17 years at time police action commenced against them, for 2019–20 and across the time series.

(a) Only those offenders whose Indigenous status and sex were identified were included.

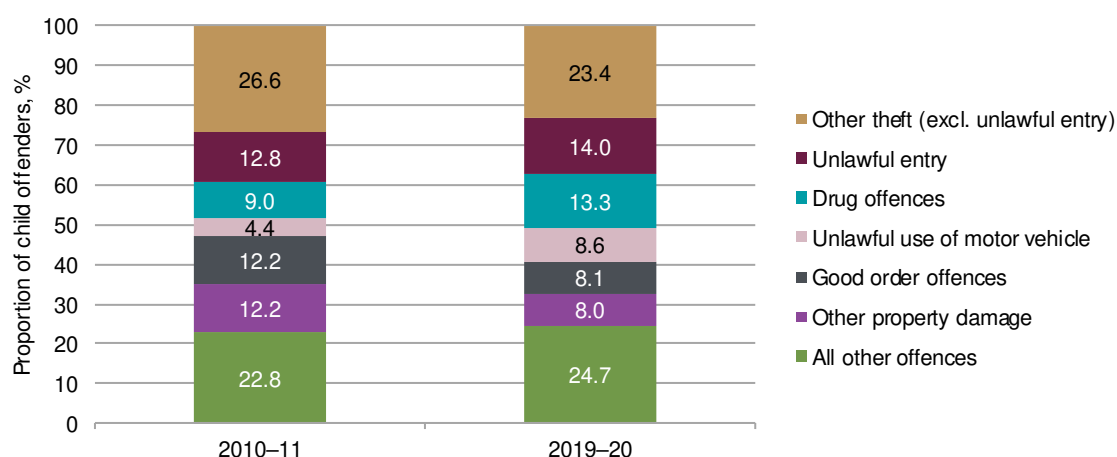

(b) COVID-19 pandemic was declared on 11 March 2020 and containment measures commenced.

6.4.2. Offence type

Six offences have accounted for three-quarters of all child offending in every year of the 10-year time series from 2010–11 to 2019–20 (Figure 15).

Other theft (excl. unlawful entry), has consistently been the most prevalent of these, albeit a smaller proportion of all child offenders in 2019–20 (23.4%) than in 2010–11 (26.6%). The proportion of child offenders for unlawful use of motor vehicle almost doubled over the same period from 4.4% to 8.6%, and was fourth-highest in 2019–20.

(a) COVID-19 pandemic was declared on 11 March 2020 and containment measures commenced.

In 2019–20, compared with 2010–11, the largest increase in number of child offenders was for drug offences (+2,643 offenders to 6,853) followed by unlawful use of motor vehicle (+2,340 offenders to 4,414) (Figure 16).

Conversely, other property damage showed the largest decrease in child offenders over the same period (–1,566 offenders to 4,148), closely followed by good order offences (–1,534 offenders to 4,160).

Drug offences accounted for the largest increase and other property damage the largest decrease in offences by child offenders over the 10-year time series

(a) Excludes offence types with fewer than 1,000 offenders in both 2010–11 and 2019–20.

(b) COVID-19 pandemic was declared on 11 March 2020 and containment measures commenced.

While child offenders accounted for about one-sixth (15.9%) of all offenders proceeded against by police in 2019–20, this figure varied across offence types. There were six offence types where child offenders accounted for more than twice this proportion. Robbery was the highest of these, with 50.8% of all offenders aged between 10 and 17 years at time police action commenced against them (Figure 17).

6.5. Unique offenders

There were 107,961 unique offenders in Queensland in 2019–20, a decrease of 4.5% from 113,065 unique offenders in the previous year (Figure 18). The number of unique offenders in 2019–20 was at its lowest in the 10-year time series.

The decreased count of unique offenders in 2019–20 has resulted in the Queensland unique offender rate continuing its downward trend from the time-series peak of 2,999.4 offenders per 100,000 persons in 2014–15, to 2,408.3 offenders in 2019–20.

The decrease in unique offenders in 2019–20 occurred across both Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and non-Indigenous offenders, with the numbers of unique offenders decreasing by 1.0% and 4.6% respectively since 2018–19.

(b) COVID-19 pandemic was declared on 11 March 2020 and containment measures commenced.

In 2019–20, Queensland's unique offender rate was at its lowest in 10 years

6.5.1. Age, sex and Indigenous status

The distribution of unique offenders in 2019–20 by their age, sex and Indigenous status displayed a similar pattern for both non-Indigenous and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander offenders.

For both male and female non-Indigenous offenders, the most highly-represented age group was 20–24 years, with numbers decreasing steadily through the older age groups (Figure 19).

Age of unique offender is reported as at date of first police action against them in the reference year.

(a) Excludes 918 unique offenders whose Indigenous status was not stated.

(b) Excludes a further 100 non-Indigenous unique offenders whose sex was not stated.

The 20–24 years age group was also the most highly represented for both male and female Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander unique offenders, closely followed by the 15–19 years and 25–29 years age groups for male offenders and the 25–29 years and 15–19 years age groups for female offenders (Figure 20).

(b) Excludes 10 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander unique offenders whose sex was not stated.

6.5.2. Age distribution

The age distribution of unique offenders has shifted towards older age groups since 2010–11 (Figure 21). In 2019–20, unique offender numbers were lower in all age groups under 30 years but increased in all age groups 30 years and over.

There were 11,233 unique child offenders in 2019–20, representing a 27.3% decrease compared with 15,448 in 2010–11. The unique child offender rate also declined to 2,127.0 per 100,000 persons aged 10–17 years, the lowest level recorded over the time series (Figure 22). In comparison, the number of unique adult offenders proceeded against by police increased 4.4%, with 96,728 in 2019–20 compared with 92,654 in 2010–11. While the unique adult offender rate has been higher than the unique child offender rate since 2012–13, it too declined to its lowest level in 10 years, with 2,445.9 unique adult offenders per 100,000 persons aged 18 years and over.

7.0 Victims of offences against the person

In this report, victim statistics relate to offences against the person only, and they relate only to offences reported to or detected by police. They do not represent a count of unique victims unless otherwise stated. They are compiled on the basis of one victim per counted offence type within a single report to police.

Statistics are compiled on the basis of the date an offence was reported to/detected by police, regardless of when the offence occurred. In some instances, particularly with homicide and sexual offences, there may be a large time difference between when the offence occurred and the report/detection date.

All victims — offences against the person	2018–19	2019–20<sup>(a)</sup>	% change

(a) COVID-19 pandemic was declared on 11 March 2020 and containment measures commenced.

(b) Rates have been age-standardised to account for differences in the age profiles of the Indigenous and non-Indigenous populations. Reported victims whose age and/or Indigenous status was unknown have been excluded from these calculations.

In 2019–20:

All offences against the person

- The victimisation rate increased only slightly to be the highest in the 10-year time series, at 687.4 reported victims per 100,000 persons.
- 58.7% of reported victims knew their offender.
- 14.0% of reported victims (excluding those whose Indigenous status was not stated) identified as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander.

Assault accounted for almost 7 in 10 reported victims

- One-quarter of all reported assault victims were aged 20–29 years.
- 60.3% of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander female assault victims were in a family or domestic relationship with their offender, compared with 38.4% of non-Indigenous female reported victims.
- Almost half of non-Indigenous male reported assault victims were assaulted by person(s) unknown to them, compared with one-fifth of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander male assault victims.

Female victims

- Females aged 10–19 years represented 41.6% of all reported victims of sexual offences.
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander females were seven times as likely as non-Indigenous females to be a reported victim of serious assault.
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander females aged 20–29 years were the cohort most likely to be offended against by someone they were in a family or domestic relationship with (3,161 reported victims per 100,000 persons).

7.1. Reported victims

In 2019–20, Queensland police recorded 35,312 victims of offences against the person, a 2.1% increase on the previous year (34,576 reported victims) (Figure 23).

The increased count of reported victims in 2019–20 showed Queensland's reported victimisation rate continued its recent upward trend from a low of 534.2 victims per 100,000 persons in 2014–15, to a 10-year high of 687.4 victims in 2019–20.

RHS = right hand side

(a) Reported victims per 100,000 persons.

(b) COVID-19 pandemic was declared on 11 March 2020 and containment measures commenced.

The increase in reported victims in 2019–20 was observed for both Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and non-Indigenous victims, with an increase of 0.7% and 1.6% respectively on the previous year.

7.1.1. Age and sex

Victim's age is as at date offence was reported to or detected by police, not at date offence occurred.

Be aware that, in some instances, particularly homicide and sexual offences, the time difference may be considerable.

Victim tables have been subjected to confidentialisation where cell values range between 1 and 3. Cells with a value of zero remain unaltered.

Totals for certain variables, therefore, may vary slightly across tables within the report. (See Explanatory notes for more detail.)

7.1.2. Offence type

Assault
accounted for
7 in 10
reported victims
in 2019–20

Assault offences accounted for nearly seven in ten (68.3% or 24,136) reported victims of offences against the person in Queensland in 2019–20 (Table 58). Assault is the direct (and immediate/confrontational) infliction of force, injury or violence upon a person or persons, or the direct (and immediate/confrontational) threat of force, injury or violence where there is an apprehension that the threat could be enacted. Assault accounted for a considerably greater proportion of male victims than female victims (78.8% compared with 59.3%).

This offence type is further disaggregated on the basis of whether or not the assault involved injury, or other aggravating circumstances. In 2019–20, serious assault and common assault were the most prevalent types of assault experienced by victims in Queensland.

While assault offences accounted for a greater proportion of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander victims than non-Indigenous victims (78.0% compared with 69.6%), the sex profile was also notably different between these victim cohorts. Females accounted for 68.4% of all Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander assault victims, with more female than male victims recorded across almost all assault offence types, except for grievous assault. In comparison, females accounted for a much lower proportion (42.5%) of all non-Indigenous assault victims, with more male than female victims recorded across all assault offence types.

Sexual offences accounted for 14.7% of all reported victims in 2019–20. Females comprised over four in five (85.4% or 4,419) of all reported victims of sexual offences, a proportion which was consistent across both the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and non-Indigenous victim cohorts. Under sexual offences, other sexual offences accounted for the majority of reported victims (63.0% compared with 37.0% for rape and attempted rape).

Homicide offences and robbery accounted for 0.3% and 5.6% respectively of all reported victims in 2019–20, with males comprising a higher number of reported victims across both offence types.

Over the 10-year time series, assault has consistently accounted for the largest proportion of all victims of offences against the person (around 70%) and, of these, serious assault consistently makes up the largest proportion (Figure 24). Sexual offences have accounted for between 14.6% and 17.3% of reported victims over the series.

7.1.3. Age and sex, for selected offences

The age and sex profiles of reported victims can differ significantly depending on the offence type, as demonstrated below for the selected offence types of assault and sexual offences. Age data presented in this report refer to the victim's age on the date the offence was reported/detected, rather than their age on the date the offence occurred.

In 2019–20, reported victims of assault showed similar age distribution for male and female victims. Females aged 20–29 years represented the largest single cohort of all female reported assault victims in 2019–20 (3,021 reported victims, or 26.9%) (Figure 25). This age group was also the largest cohort of all male assault victims in 2019–20 (2,905 reported victims, or 22.6%). While the number of both male and female assault victims steadily declined with each successive age group after 20–29 years, reported victims aged 50–59 years and 60 years and over were substantially more likely to be male than female (1.6 times and 1.9 times respectively). In fact, males outnumbered females across almost all age categories for reported assault victims, with the exception of those aged 10–29 years.

(a) Chart excludes records for 42 reported assault victims whose age and/or sex was unknown or not stated.

1 in 4
reported assault victims was aged
20–29 years

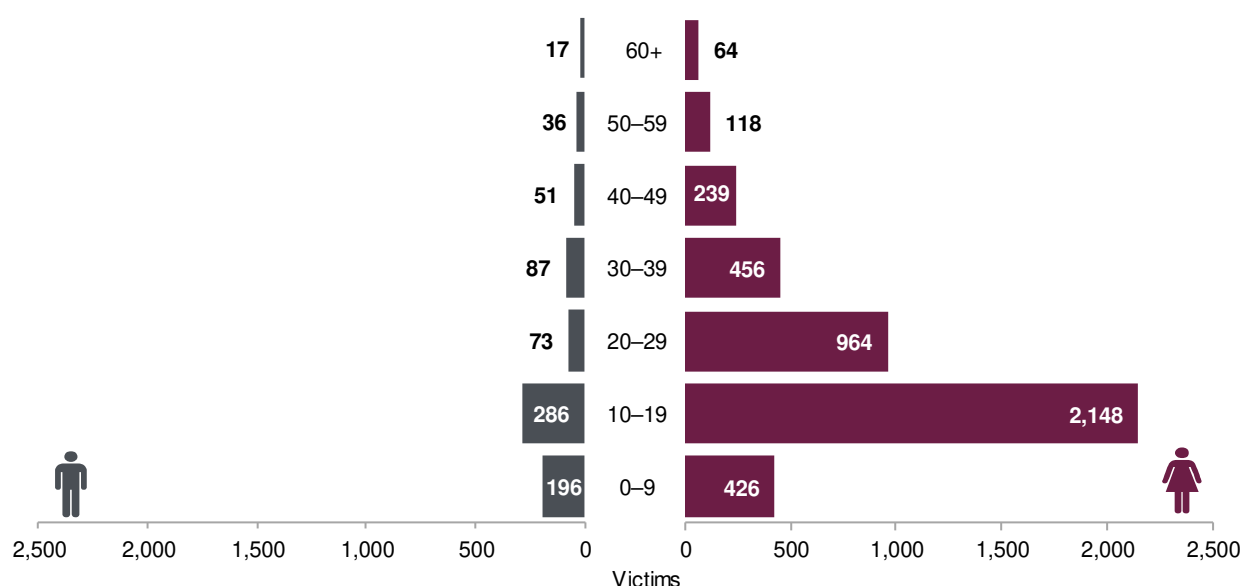

Females aged
0–19 years
comprised half of all victims of sexual offences

Compared with reported assault victims, the age and sex profile of reported victims of sexual offences was considerably more disproportionate, with females outnumbering males in every age category, ranging from a ratio of 2.2 times (victims aged 0–9 years) to 13.2 times (victims aged 20–29 years) (Figure 26).

Although the most prevalent age group for both male and female reported victims of sexual offences was 10–19 years, the number of females in this age cohort significantly outnumbered males, resulting in the single largest group of reported victims of this offence type in 2019–20 (41.6% of all reported sexual offences victims).

(a) Chart excludes records for 12 reported sexual offences victims whose age and/or sex was unknown or not stated.

7.1.4. Reported victimisation rate

Age-standardisation is a technique used to enhance the comparability of event rates from different populations or sub-populations over time by making adjustments for the confounding effects of differences in age structure between the populations being compared.

Age-standardised victimisation rates in 2019–20 varied markedly according to the Indigenous status and sex of the victim, as well as offence type. Figure 27 demonstrates this variability for sexual offences and the subcategories of assault offences.

Across each of the offences shown, both male and female Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander persons recorded higher victimisation rates than non-Indigenous persons.

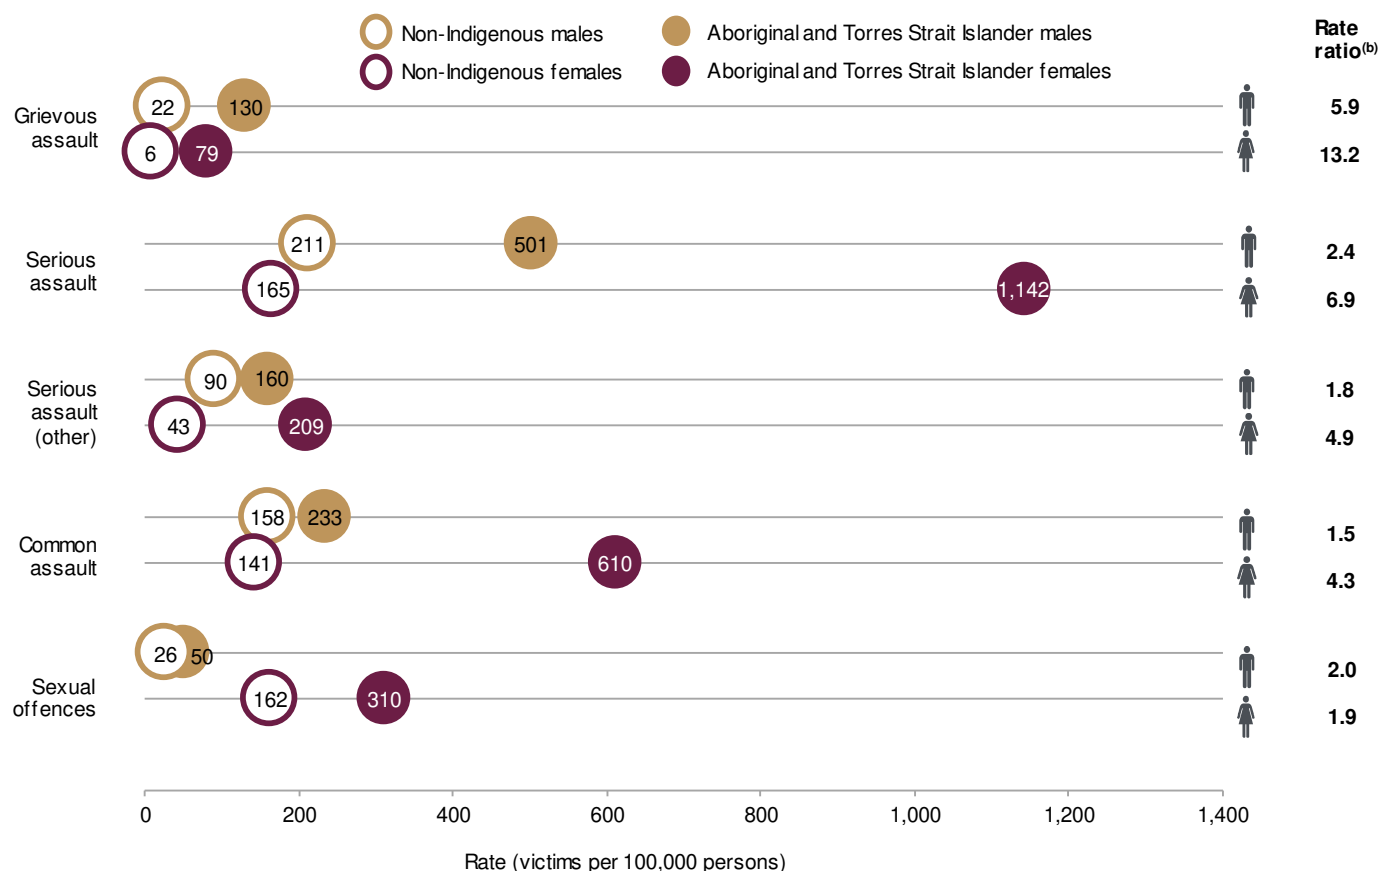

The victimisation rates for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander persons were consistently higher for females than males across all offences shown, except for grievous assault.

Comparatively, non-Indigenous victims were more likely to be male, with this cohort experiencing higher victimisation rates than non-Indigenous females, except for sexual offences.

Across the offences shown, female Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander victims of serious assault recorded the highest victimisation rate in 2019–20, at a rate of 1,142 victims per 100,000 persons. This rate was equivalent to a rate ratio of seven times the rate for non-Indigenous females.

However, the largest rate ratio in 2019–20 was observed for female victims of grievous assault, where Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander females were 13 times as likely as non-Indigenous females to be a victim of this offence (at a victimisation rate of 79 victims per 100,000 persons compared with six per 100,000 non-Indigenous females).

(a) Only reported victims whose Indigenous status and sex were identified are included.

(b) Rate ratio is the age-standardised victimisation rate for the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander population subgroup divided by the age-standardised victimisation rate for the equivalent non-Indigenous population subgroup. Rate ratios have been calculated on unrounded rates.

7.1.5. Relationship of offender to victim

Data describing the relationship of offender to victim are used as one of the sources for identifying domestic and family violence (DFV)–related offences (Table 60). However, a proportion of victims of offences against the person (for example, 8.2% in 2019–20) have no information recorded about the relationship between the offender and victim. Because of this, and the counting rules used to record assault incidents, DFV–related offences against the person data in this report may under-represent the number of these offences in Queensland.

Please note

DFV-related offences presented in this report relate only to offences against the person and do not take into account DFV-related offences that may occur for offences against property or other offences.

It is also important to note that, where a DFV incident occurs which involves an alleged assault and the victim does not consent to proceeding with an assault charge, the assault matter is not recorded by police in QPRIME and therefore will not be included in reported offences.

Please note: This table counts number of (non-unique) victims, rather than offenders or relationships. Victims of all offences against the person are included, regardless of the cleared/solved status of the offence. Relationship is recorded at time offence was reported, and relationship classifications used are derived from those used by the ABS in Recorded crime – Victims, Australia.

reported victims
knew
their offender

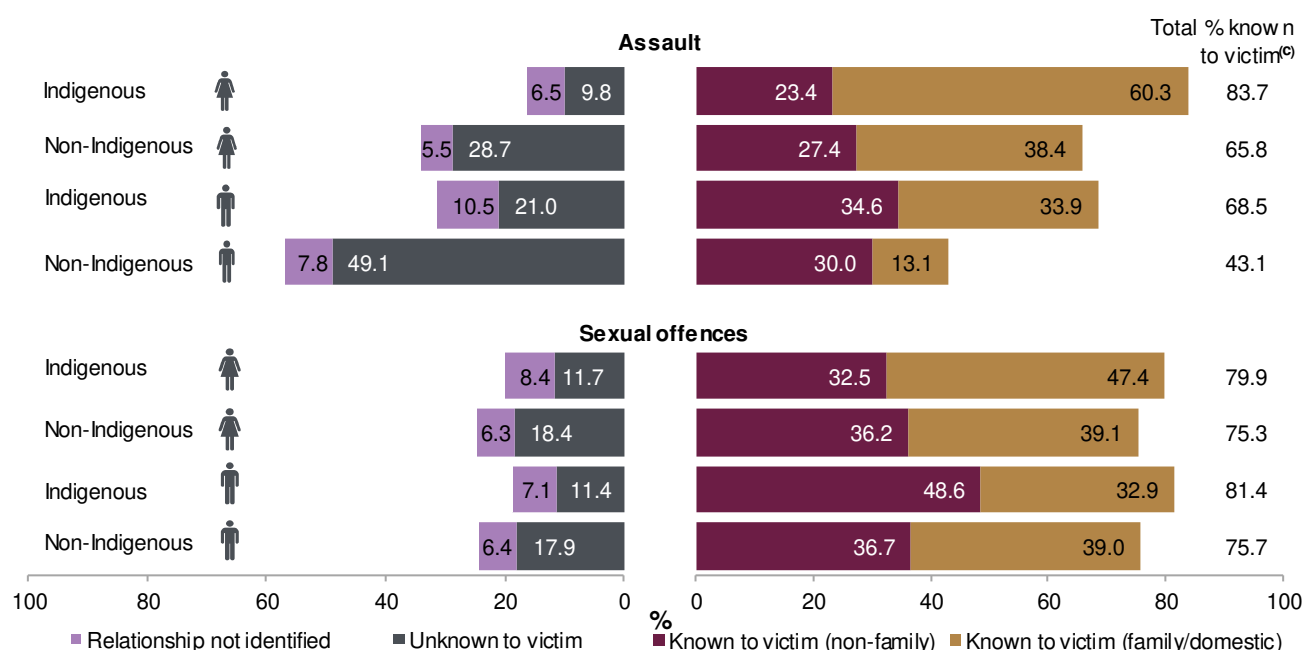

Across all offences against the person in 2019–20 where the offender–victim relationship was recorded, 58.7% of reported victims in Queensland knew their offender.<sup>1</sup> The nature of the relationship between the offender and the victim varied markedly according to the sex and Indigenous status of the victim, as well as the offence type. Figure 28 demonstrates this divergence for the selected offence types of assault and sexual offences.

Notably, more than four in five (83.7%) Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander female victims of assault knew their offender, with the majority (60.3%) in a family or domestic relationship with the offender. Comparatively, non-Indigenous female assault victims were less likely than their Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander counterparts to have known their offender (65.8%) and much less likely to have been in a family or domestic relationship with the offender (38.4%).

Non-Indigenous male assault victims were more likely than other assault victims to have been offended against by a person(s) unknown to them (49.1%), and the least likely to be in a family or domestic relationship with their offender (13.1%).

Across all reported victims of sexual offences, around three in four victims knew their offender. Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander female victims were more likely than Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander male victims to be in a family or domestic relationship with their offender (47.4% compared with 32.9%), while for non-Indigenous female and male victims there was no difference (39.1% and 39.0% respectively). Non-Indigenous female victims were the cohort most likely to have been offended against by a person(s) unknown to them (18.4%).

- (a) Records where offender–victim relationship was not stated have been excluded from calculations.
 (b) Only reported victims whose Indigenous status and sex were identified are included.
 (c) Total % known to victim have been calculated on unrounded figures.

<sup>1</sup> Note the proportion of offences against the person where the relationship between the offender and victim was not recorded in 2019–20 varied by the Indigenous status of the victim (4.4% for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander victims, 7.5% for non-Indigenous victims and 22.7% for victims whose Indigenous status was not stated), and also by sex of the victim (9.1% for male victims and 7.4% for female victims).

7.1.6. Reported victimisation rate of DFV-related offences<sup>2</sup> by Indigenous status

Across all offences against the person in 2019–20 where offender–victim relationship was recorded, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander victims were twice as likely as non-Indigenous victims to be offended against by someone with whom they were in a family or domestic relationship (52.5% compared with 27.1%). In particular, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander victims were twice as likely as non-Indigenous victims to be offended against by a partner or ex-partner in 2019–20 (29.1% compared with 14.1%).

However, examination of reported victimisation rates for DFV-related offences by age and sex reveals the substantial variation in experiences within Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and non-Indigenous reported victim cohorts. It must be remembered that, in this report, a victim's age is based on the date the offence was reported to or detected by police, rather than their age on the date the offence occurred, and some offences will have occurred in years prior to 2019–20.

In 2019–20, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander female victimisation rates for DFV-related offences increased with age, peaking at 3,061 victims per 100,000 persons for females aged 20–29 years, before declining steadily with each successive age group (Figure 29). This was the highest age-specific victimisation rate for DFV-related offences across all victims of offences against the person.

In contrast, victimisation rates for non-Indigenous females peaked earlier at 10–17 years of age (427 victims per 100,000 persons). The victimisation rate then declined with each successive age group.

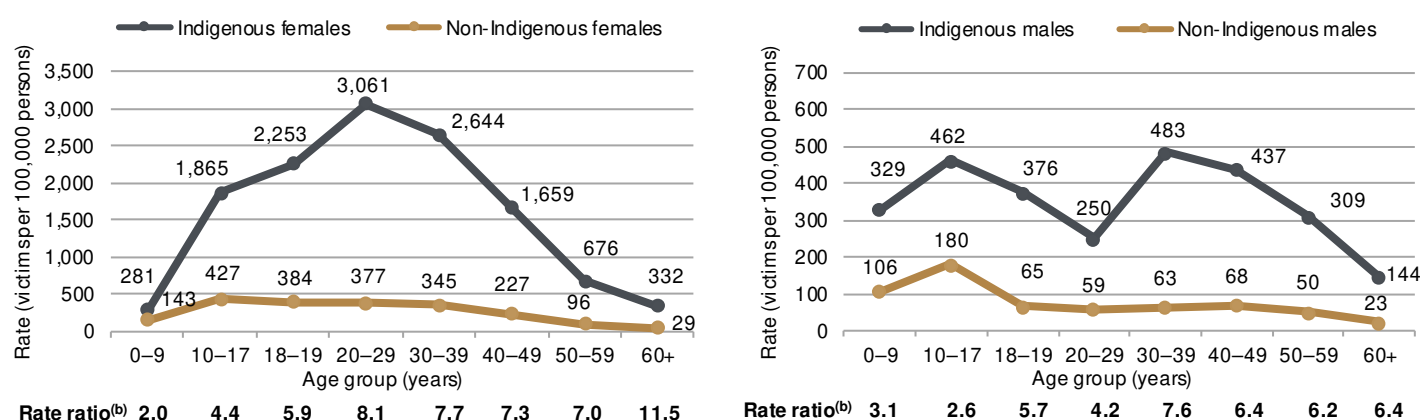

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander females aged between 0–17 years experienced victimisation rates for DFV-related offences between two and over four times that of non-Indigenous females. This differential in rates was larger among adult female victims, with rates for those cohorts aged 18 years and over ranging between six and almost twelve times those of non-Indigenous female victims. The largest rate ratio was for women aged 60 years and over, with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander women 11.5 times more likely to be a victim of a DFV-related offence than non-Indigenous women in 2019–20.

Victimisation rates for DFV-related offences among non-Indigenous males peaked at 10–17 years of age, at 180 victims per 100,000 persons, and declined with each successive age group as it did for non-Indigenous females. In contrast, the victimisation rate for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander males was second-highest at 10–17 years of age (at 462 victims per 100,000 persons) but peaked at 30–39 years of age (483 per 100,000 persons). The largest rate ratio of all age groups was in the 30–39 years age group, with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander men victimised at 7.6 times the rate of non-Indigenous men.

Overall, except for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander females aged 0–9 years, both Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and non-Indigenous females experienced markedly higher DFV-related victimisation rates than all males across all other age groups.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander females aged 20–29 years were the cohort most likely to be offended against by someone in their family or domestic relationship

(a) Only victims whose Indigenous status and sex were recorded are included.

(b) Rate ratio is the victimisation rate for the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander population subgroup divided by the victimisation rate for the equivalent non-Indigenous population subgroup. Rate ratios have been calculated on unrounded rates.

<sup>2</sup> DFV-related offences represented in this report are those offences against the person where reported victims indicated to police they were in a domestic or family relationship with the offender, and which the victim agreed for police to progress.

7.2. Unique victims

In 2019–20, QPS recorded a total of 30,514 unique victims of offences against the person, a 2.2% increase on the previous year (+657 unique victims) (Figure 30). This is the fifth successive yearly increase in the number of unique victims and is the highest count in the 10-year time series.

Continuing the same upward trend, the unique victimisation rate reached a peak of 594.0 victims per 100,000 persons in 2019–20 following the time-series low in 2014–15 of 465.8 victims per 100,000 persons.

The count and rate of unique victims reached a 10-year high in the year to June 2020

(a) Unique victims per 100,000 persons.

(b) COVID-19 pandemic was declared on 11 March 2020 and containment measures commenced.

7.2.1. Indigenous status

The increase in unique victims from 2018–19 to 2019–20 occurred mainly for non-Indigenous victims, with the number increasing by 433 (+1.8%) while those identified as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander remained almost unchanged (Figure 30).

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander persons represented 13.3% of all unique victims in 2019–20 (where Indigenous status was stated). This is disproportionate to the representation of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander persons in Queensland's overall population (4.6% at 30 June 2019).<sup>3</sup>

<sup>3</sup> ABS Regional Population, 2018–19 financial year; ABS Estimates and Projections, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Australians, 2006 to 2031.

7.2.2. Age and sex

In 2019–20, unique victims were more likely to be female than male across all younger age groups from 0 to 39 years, as they were in the previous year, while across older age categories (aged 40+ years) unique victims were more likely to be male than female (Figure 31). Over the 10-year time series, there has been a trend of unique female victims increasingly outnumbering unique male victims in the younger age group. In 2010–11, only the youngest victims up to 19 years were more likely to be female than male (Figure 32). The first year that unique female victims outnumbered males in all age groups from 0 to 29 years was 2015–16, and 2018–19 was the first year that unique female victims outnumbered males in all age groups from 0 to 39 years.

Females aged 20–29 years represented the largest single group of unique victims in 2019–20 (4,096 or 13.5% of all victims with both age and sex identified), closely followed by females aged 10–19 years (3,985 or 13.1%). This is indicative of the large number of victims of sexual offences and assault for these two cohorts. This is the first year in the 10-year time series that females aged 20–29 years overtook females aged 10–19 years. Persons aged 0–9 years comprised the smallest unique victim cohort overall since 2018–19 as it was outnumbered by the cohort aged 60 years and over.

unique victims aged 0–39 years were more likely to be female but those aged 40+
years were more likely to be male.

Glossary

Age standardisation: a statistical method used to enhance the comparability of event rates from different population or sub-population groups over time by making adjustments for the confounding effects of differences in age structure between the populations being compared—e.g. the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and non-Indigenous populations.

Cleared offences: An offence is deemed to be cleared under, but not restricted to, one of the following circumstances:

- Police action* has been taken against an offender.
- The offender has died or been admitted to a psychiatric facility before police have proceeded with a charge.
- The offender has diplomatic immunity.
- The offender is serving a sentence and no useful purpose would be served by prosecution.
- The offender is a child and no further action will be taken in accordance with Youth Justice Act 1992.
- There is a bar to prosecution (e.g. defences and exculpations under the Criminal Code Act 1899, or other Queensland statutes).
- The offender is being dealt with by another agency apart from QPS (e.g. RSPCA or other Queensland Government department).
- There is sufficient evidence to determine that the offender committed the offence but will not be charged as it is not in the public interest.
- There is sufficient evidence to determine the offender committed the offence but none of the offences can be sufficiently particularised to commence a prosecution.
- The victim is too young to proceed without sufficient corroboration to support their testimony.
- There is sufficient evidence to determine that the offender committed the offence but will not be charged as the offence was committed against a child who has been interviewed but did not sufficiently disclose the abuse and without other evidence the case cannot proceed.
- The victim or essential witness has died prior to the offender being charged.

- The victim formally withdraws the complaint and no longer wishes to continue with the complaint.

The recovery of stolen or otherwise unlawfully obtained property does not in itself clear or solve an offence.

*Police action type: Police may proceed against an offender in any of the following ways:

Arrest: The taking into custody of an offender to compel that person's appearance before a court.

Summons: A direction or command issued by a magistrate or justice of the peace to an offender to appear before a court with reference to a matter described therein, at a given time and place.

Notice to appear: A notice issued and personally served by a police officer upon an offender whom he/she reasonably suspects has committed / is committing an offence, to appear before a court, with reference to a matter described therein, at a stated time and place.

Warrant: An authority under the hand of a judge or justice of the peace to arrest an offender in order that the person may be dealt with according to the law.

Caution: An official caution administered to a child under the provisions of the Youth Justice Act and includes the cautioning of persons over 65 years of age and intellectually disabled persons for minor criminal offences in accordance with official QPS policy. The term does not apply to any informal process where a child is spoken to by an officer where the officer is exercising discretion in relation to the child's particular behaviour or actions.

Community conference: The referral of a child under the provisions of the Youth Justice Act to community conference by a police officer before the start of a proceeding for an offence, or by court after a finding of guilty is made against a child for the offence.

Other: The offender is known and sufficient evidence has been obtained but there is a bar to prosecution or other official process.

Confidentialisation: a change made to small-value cells ( $\leq 3$ ) in aggregated person-related data (see Notes).

Crime location: Refers to the initial site where a criminal incident occurred, determined based on primary use or function. Surrounding land, yard or parking area connected to a building or other structure are assigned to the same category of use. If a location serves more than one function, they are classified per the primary function.

Administration or Professional includes business, government.

Dwelling includes boarding house, motel, unit, other dwelling.

Educational includes school, university, TAFE, library.

Health includes hospital, hospital grounds, medical.

Justice includes court, police station, correctional centre.

Open space includes beach, boat ramp, bushland, crown land, river, waterway.

Other n.e.c. includes construction site, mail, military area, rest area.

Recreational includes adult entertainment, brothel, caravan park, cinema, night club, gaming.

Retail includes chemist, food shop, garage, hotel, licensed premises, restaurant, Post Office, shopping centre.

Transport includes airport, carpark, railway, terminal, wharf, train, in transit.

Offence: Any act or omission by a person or persons for which a penalty could be imposed by the Australian legal system.

Offences are presented under three broad categories: offences against the person, against property, and other offences. They are further disaggregated and grouped by offence type.

Offender: A person aged 10 years or over who, through the clearance of an offence, is alleged to be responsible for committing that offence.

Child offender: in this report, an alleged offender aged 10 to 17 years on the date police action commenced against them.

Population subgroup: In this report, this term is used where rates are calculated for each age group by Indigenous status and sex. It refers to the portion of the population to which a statistic pertains, e.g. non-Indigenous females aged 10–17 years.

Victim: For most offences against the person, 'the victim' is an individual person. In some cases, such as robbery and extortion, the victim may be an individual person or an organisation. Only person victims have been included in this report.

Notes

The information displayed in this report may vary from data published elsewhere by QGSO and others, due to differences in the dates data were extracted and frequency of revision, or in counting rules or statistical standards applied. Readers are urged to exercise caution when making comparison between publications.

Data in this report have not been tested to determine whether changes over time are statistically significant.

Source – QPRIME: All crime statistics presented in this report are derived from unpublished data recorded in official crime reports in QPRIME, supplied by QPS and collated by QGSO.

Data were current at the time of extraction, 4 August 2020, and are subject to change.

Age:

Victim age data presented in this report refer to the victim's age on the date the offence was reported/detected, rather than their age on the date the offence occurred. Particular care should be exercised when interpreting age data for sexual assault victims.

Offender age data presented in this report refer to the offender's age on the date the offence was cleared/actioned by police, rather than their age on the date the offence occurred or the offence was reported/detected.

Confidentialisation:

Confidentialising data involves removing or altering information or collapsing detail (through application of statistical disclosure controls) to mitigate the risk that a person may be identified in the data (either directly or indirectly).

Victim and alleged offender tables contain person-based variables and include demographic information. Therefore, such tables in this report are subject to confidentialisation to ensure the anonymity of individuals is protected where numbers are small and there is a reasonable likelihood that a person may be identified from the data published. This process is applied to aggregated data only prior to release.

QGSO has confidentialised cells in offender and victim-related tables with values ranging from 1 to 3. This is denoted in the tables by the number '≤ 3' appearing in cells with small values. Cells with a value of zero remain unaltered.

For the purpose of calculating row and column totals, each cell with a value of 1 to 3 is assigned a value of 2, regardless of the true value of that cell. This methodology allows for totals to be calculated in tables with small value cells, but this does mean that totals for certain variables may not be the same across tables within the report.

Counting methodology: This report uses counting rules originally developed by the ABS and used by Queensland Police for the publication of crime statistics relating to reported offences against the person, victims and offenders. The following counting rules have been applied in this publication.

Offences: For offences against the person, for each victim within a distinct criminal incident (occurrence), the most serious offence (MSO) per offence type is counted. A single criminal incident may therefore result in several offences being recorded.

Sexual offences, which includes 'Rape and attempted rape' and 'Other sexual offences', is the exception to the national counting rule. The counting rule applied in respect of this group of offences is that, for each victim, the MSO per offence type is counted on the basis of time and place.

For offences against property and other offences, no national counting rules exist and, for such offences, each distinct criminal act per criminal incident is counted.

Offenders: Count of one for each unique reported offence type cleared or solved through police action against an individual offender within a single incident, for a specified geographic area and period. An individual offender is counted multiple times during the reference period, if they were proceeded against for multiple offence types within the same incident or multiple times within the reference period.

Unique offenders: An individual offender is counted only once during the reference period, irrespective of the number of offences committed within the same incident or the number of times they were dealt with by police.

Victims: For each reported victim within a distinct criminal incident, the MSO per offence type is counted. Where the same individual is subjected to multiple offences belonging to different offence types within a single incident, then, in accordance with the MSO counting rule, that victim is counted multiple times (once for each MSO per offence type). Only victims of offences against the person are presented in this report.

Unique victims: An individual victim is counted once only in the reference period, regardless of how many times they have been reported as a victim of an offence (against the person).

Geography:

In the main report, all data are presented at state (Queensland) level. Number and rate of offences are also presented in tables for Queensland's 19 statistical areas level 4 (SA4) under the ASGS.

These tables include some offences where the SA4 in which the offence occurred cannot be identified. This may occur for one of two reasons:

The offence was detected as part of a covert operation, and the location of the offence has not been recorded, to maintain security; or

The accuracy of the address has not been determined at the time that the data were extracted for inclusion in this publication. That is, the address was not verified.

In these cases, the offences have been included in the Queensland total only. Therefore, SA4 statistics may not always sum to Queensland totals.

In the Appendix, all data are presented at Queensland Police Service administrative regions.

In cases where the police region in which the offence occurred cannot be identified (for reasons outlined above), the offences have been included in the Queensland total only. Therefore, police region statistics may not always sum to Queensland totals.

Indigenous status: based on self-identification by the individual who comes into contact with police as one of the following four standard options:

Neither Aboriginal nor Torres Strait Islander (non-Indigenous); Aboriginal; Torres Strait Islander; Both Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander.

In this publication, the term 'Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander' is used to refer to any person who identifies as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander.

Indigenous status of victim/offender has not been identified in a relatively small number of offences, and these are quantified in the table footnotes where applicable.

Offence classification: Offence codes and groupings presented in this publication are those used by QPS and are based on the Australian National Classification of Offences (ANCO, 1985).

Interpreting rates: Rates are calculated per 100,000 persons, using the appropriate estimated resident population (ERP) of the specified region, published by the ABS, as at 30 June.

Offence rate is calculated as:

$$\frac{\text{number of offences}}{\text{ERP}} * 100,000$$

using the average ERP for the reference year (e.g. average of [ERP as at 30 June 2018 plus ERP as at 30 June 2019] for the 2019–20 reference year).

Unique offender rate: Expressed as the number of unique offenders per 100,000 of the estimated resident population (ERP) aged 10 years and over.

Unique victim rate: Expressed as the number of unique victims per 100,000 of the total estimated resident population (ERP).

Rates enable comparison of crime to be made over time and between geographical areas, since the size of the population is taken into account in the calculation. However, comparisons of crime rates should be interpreted with caution due to the many factors which differ from region to region, including: the composition of its population (age, sex, ethnicity and employment); climate and geographical features; the economic structure (including local industry and the level and distribution of income).

It should be noted also that transient population groups such as tourists are not factored into the ERP. This would have particular impact on high tourism areas where crime rates may be overestimated.

Reference date: The reference date for reported offences and victims is the date an offence is reported to or detected by police. For cleared offences, the reference date is the date the offence was cleared by police. For offender statistics, the reference date is the date an action is commenced.

Reference year: Years quoted in this report are financial year (i.e. from 1 July to 30 June). Statistics produced on the basis of date reported may be affected over time by lags in completing and/or processing some crime reports. Where offences reported in the reference year are not processed for inclusion until the following year, revised data will be presented in subsequent publications. As such, time series data published in this publication may vary from data published previously by Queensland Police Service.

Time series data are presented for ten financial years, from 1 July 2010 to 30 June 2020.

Variables not stated

In 2019–20 there were:

- 2,554 reported victims for whom Indigenous status was not stated, 53 reported victims for whom sex was not stated, and 24 reported victims for whom age was not stated (note – some records had more than one variable not stated)
- 2,373 unique victims for whom Indigenous status was not stated, 51 unique victims for whom sex was not stated, and 24 unique victims for whom age was not stated (note – some records had more than one variable not stated).
- 1,169 reported offenders whose Indigenous status was not stated and 200 reported offenders whose sex was not stated (note – some records had more than one variable not stated)
- 918 unique offenders whose Indigenous status was not stated and 115 unique offenders whose sex was not stated (note – some records had more than one variable not stated).

All data comparisons presented by Indigenous status exclude records where Indigenous status was not stated.

1.0 Introduction

The Crime report, Queensland Police Service administrative regions, 2019–20 comprises a series of tables and graphs and is an appendix to the Crime report, Queensland 2019–20. Statistics relating to reported and cleared offences, victims of offences against the person and offenders in all offence categories are featured and are presented by police administrative region (Figure A1).

Statistics in this supplementary report are also presented as both counts and rates. Using counts to gauge the level of crime is problematic, as areas with larger populations will presumably have higher numbers of offences than areas with smaller populations. Calculation of rates per 100,000 population allows direct comparisons of crime to be made across different geographical areas and across time, since the size of the population is taken into account in the calculation.

Data which form the basis of this report are derived from official crime reports recorded in Queensland Police Records and Information Management Exchange (QPRIME). Only offences with a status of solved, withdrawn, lapsed or unsolved are counted in this report. Cancelled, not substantiated, and unfounded crime reports have been excluded.

The information presented in this report may vary from data published elsewhere by QGSO and others, due to differences in the dates data were extracted and frequency of revision, or in counting rules or statistical standards applied. Readers are therefore urged to exercise caution when making comparison between publications.

The statistics presented in this report should also be read in conjunction with the Explanatory notes and glossary in the main report, where counting methodologies and other supporting information are provided to aid in the interpretation of rates and numbers presented.

Only offences with a status of solved, withdrawn, lapsed or unsolved are counted in this report.

Cancelled, not substantiated and unfounded crime reports have been excluded.

2.0 Reported and cleared offences by police region and district

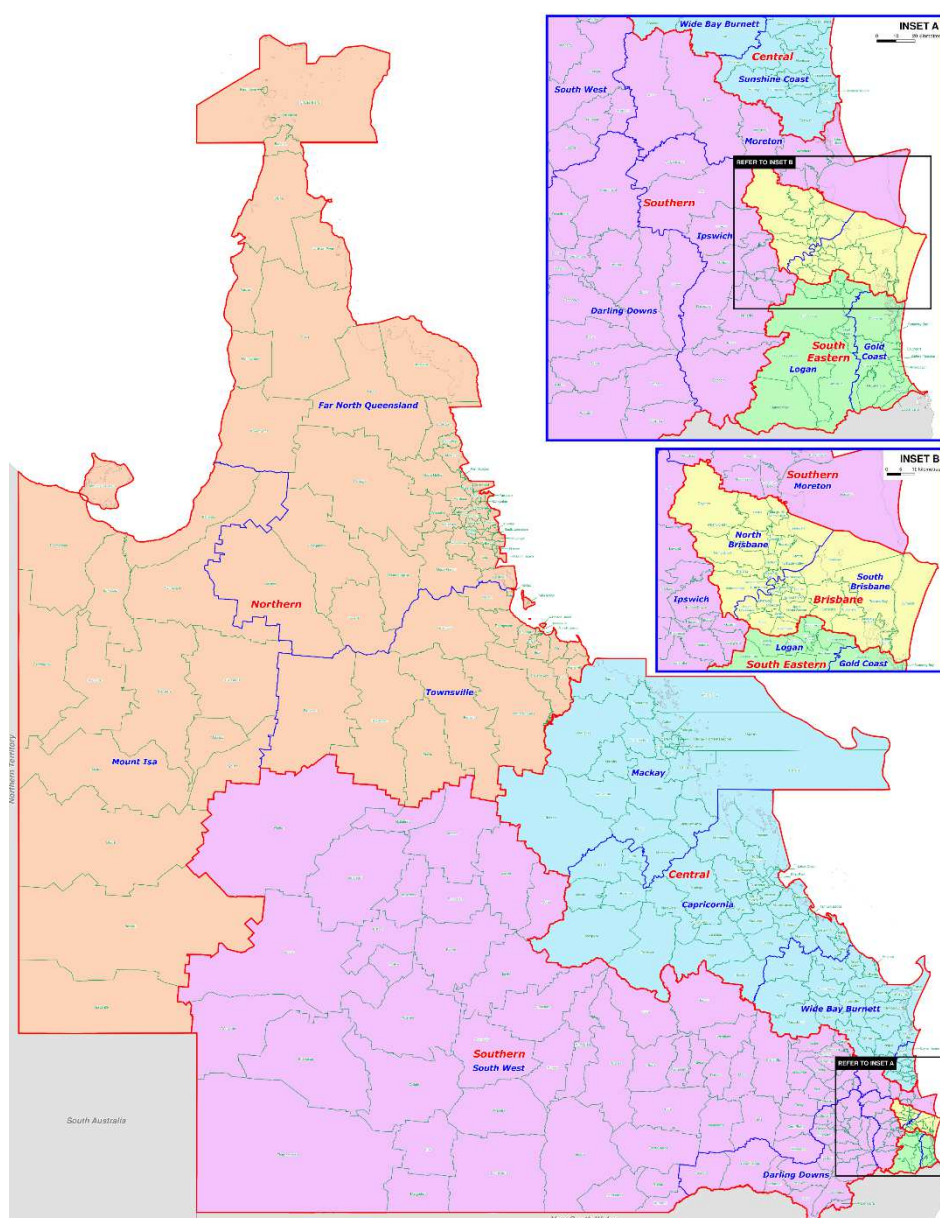

In this section, detailed tables of the number and rate of reported and cleared offences are presented for the QPS administrative regions (Brisbane, Central, Northern, South Eastern and Southern) and districts within them, for the 2019–20 financial year.

Please note: The tables in this section include some offences where the police district in which the offence occurred cannot be identified. This may occur for one of two reasons:

- (1) The offence was detected as part of a covert operation, and the location of the offence has not been recorded, to maintain security.
- (2) The accuracy of the address had not been verified at the time the data were extracted for inclusion in this publication.

In such cases, the offences have been included in the available geographical level only. Therefore, police region statistics may not always sum to Queensland totals.

3.0 Regional comparisons

The graphs in this section display changes in the rate of selected offences per 100,000 estimated resident population (ERP), from 2018–19 to 2019–20, for Queensland and the five Queensland Police Service regions: Brisbane, Central, Northern, South Eastern and Southern.

Expressing offences in terms of rate per 100,000 persons enables the crime level of a region to be compared with itself over time and with the crime level of other regions.

Population growth can lead to a rise in numbers of offences, and therefore simple counts cannot and should not be used to gauge the true level of crime in a region. However, it is important to note that transient population groups such as tourists are not factored into the ERP. This would have particular impact on high tourism areas where crime rates may be overestimated.

Offence data by region are expressed as rate per 100,000 estimated resident population. Transient population groups such as tourists are not factored into the ERP.

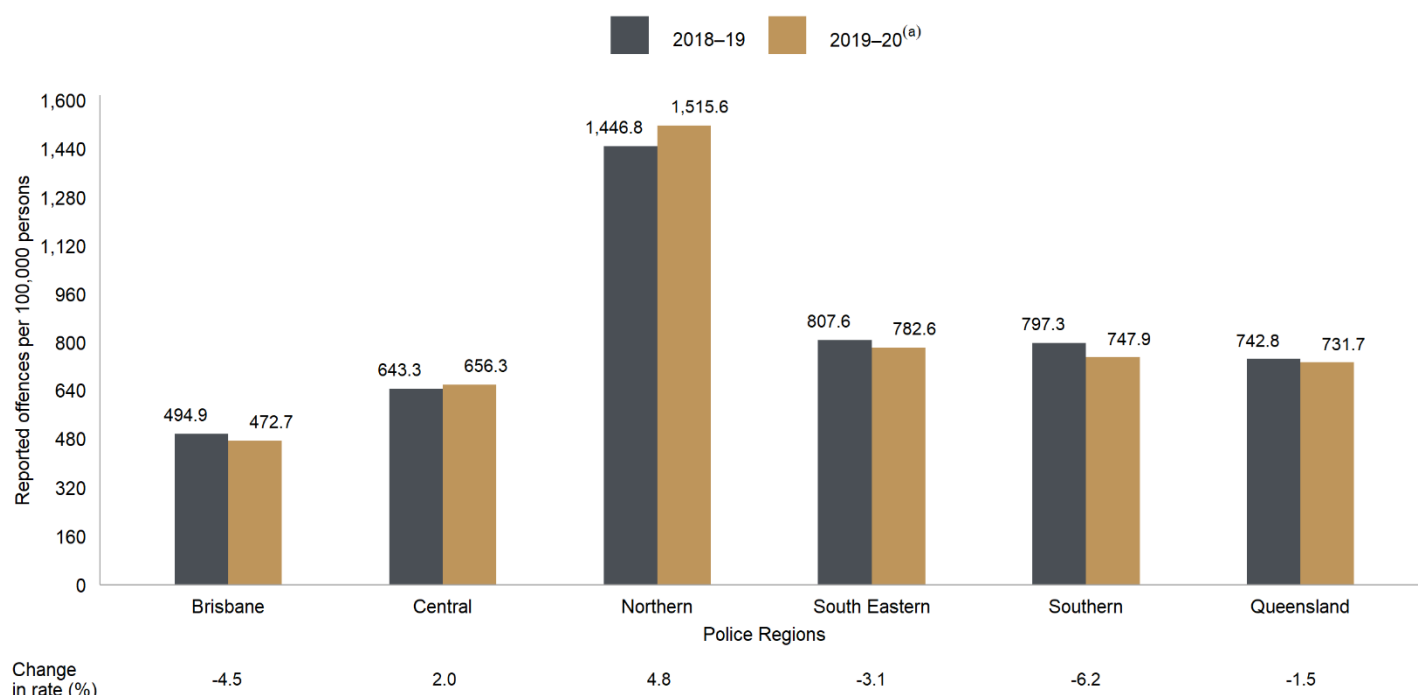

When comparing rates, please be aware that scales used vary between figures.

3.1. Selected offences against the person

Please note the following:

- Rates are presented per 100,000 estimated resident population.
- Although offence rate has been rounded to one decimal place, the actual rate was used to calculate the absolute rate change between the two periods.
- Any of the tables in this section may include some offences where the region in which the offence occurred cannot be identified. Such offences have been included in the Queensland totals only, and therefore region statistics may not always sum to Queensland totals.

4.0 Offenders by age and sex, by police region

This section presents statistics about offenders proceeded against by police, by Queensland Police Region.

An offender is any person aged 10 years or over who, through the clearance of an offence, is deemed to be responsible for committing that offence.

In this report, offender statistics refer to the number of offences cleared or solved through an action against an offender. They do not represent a count of unique offenders, nor do they equate to the number of offences cleared. An individual may be recorded as an offender multiple times, if they were proceeded against for multiple offence types within the same incident or multiple times within the reference period.

The reference date used to generate statistics for the year under review is the date an action commenced against an offender, regardless of when the offence occurred. As such, offenders proceeded against in the reference year, for matters reported in the same or in previous years, will be included in this report.

Figures in the following tables do not represent a count of unique offenders, as an individual may be recorded as an offender once or multiple times in the reporting period.

Offender's age is reported as at date police action was commenced against them, not at date offence occurred. Be aware that, in some instances, the time difference may be considerable.

To protect the anonymity of individuals, offender tables have been subjected to confidentialisation where cell values range between 1 and 3. Cells with a value of zero remain unaltered.
(See Explanatory notes in main report for more detail.)

5.0 Victims of offences against the person, by police region

This section presents statistics about victims of offences against the person, by Queensland Police Region.

In this report, victim statistics relate only to victims of offences against the person, reported to or detected by police within the reporting period. For most offences against the person 'the victim' is an individual person. Offences where the victim was an organisation have not been included in this report.

The statistics are compiled on the basis of one victim per counted offence type within a single report to police, and do not represent a count of unique victims. A person may be counted multiple times if they were the victim of multiple offences being to different offence types within a single incident or reported multiple times during the reference period. They would be counted once for each most serious offence per offence type.

The reference date for the year under review is the date an offence was reported to/detected by police, regardless of when the offence occurred. In some instances, particularly with homicide and sexual offences, there may be a large time difference between when the offence occurred and the report/detection date.

Victim's age is reported as at date offence was reported to / detected by police, not at date offence occurred. Be aware that, in some instances, the time difference may be considerable.

Figures in the following tables do not represent a count of unique victims, as an individual may be recorded as a victim once or multiple times in the reporting period.

To protect the anonymity of individuals, victim tables have been subjected to confidentialisation where cell values range between 1 and 3. Cells with a value of zero remain unaltered.
(See Explanatory notes in main report for more detail.)

5.2. Relationship of offender to victim

Please note: This table counts number of (non-unique) victims, rather than offenders or relationships. Victims of all offences against the person are included, regardless of the cleared/solved status of the offence. Relationship is recorded at time offence was reported, and relationship classifications used are derived from those used by the ABS in Recorded crime – Victims, Australia.
